Dolls & Play sets Subcategories:

Toy Wonders is a toy importer and toy wholesaler of children's toys. Dolls have been a mainstay in the toy industry. If we look back in history, dolls go way, way back --even before recorded history. Because of the longevity and nurturing appeal, every toy distributor and retailer will have some representation here. However, since this category is very focused on only one gender, it is vital that you focus your attention here and understand your customer base well; after all, you are only targeting half the children's population with this category. Knowing the answers to these questions will make it easier to select the items for his category:

1. In terms of race, what type of people do you service?
2. What type of space can you allot towards this category (e.g. wall, shelf, or counter)?
3. What price points do you need to be at?

Educational Toys & Musical Toys Subcategories:

Parents of all types have always placed extra value on toys that teach. Almost all the educational toys that we market are geared towards adults and children over the age of three. Many ambitious parents push the learning envelope with their children. For those toys geared toward infants and toddlers, we've put the toy's specific age recommendations in their descriptions. For marketability and safety reasons, these age recommendations should be strictly followed.

Highway 61 - Plymouth Barracuda Hard Top (1969, 1:18, Green) 60133

Our Products: Vehicle Scales > 1:18 Scale

Item#: 60133GN

60133GN HIGHWAY 61 - 1969 Plymouth Barracuda Hard Top. 1:18 scale diecast collectible model car. This Plymouth Barracuda is a 10.5"Lx 4"Wx 2.75"H die cast metal car with openable doors, hood & trunk, fully plumbed engine, working steering and suspension, detailed interior and soft rubber tires. This Plymouth Barracuda is manufactured by Highway 61. 60133 in GREEN color. Individually packed in a window box. Box size: 14"Lx 6.5"Wx 5.75"H.

1969 found Plymouth in an enviable position: the 1968 Barracuda was powerful and popular, but how to improve on success? In typical '60's Plymouth fashion, they just made it faster. A few cosmetic changes were made here and there, including a new grille and larger side marker lights, but Plymouth made it clear that their "go to dinner" car, as they called it, was a "go to the dragstrip" car as well. The 225ci slant six and the 318ci V8 were still the baseline engine options. The successful 340ci four-barrel V8 was carried over from 1968 while the 383ci four-barrel V8 got an upgraded crankshaft that delivered upwards of 330hp for the Formula S package. But the big news was the premiere of the 'Cuda high-performance package for the 340 and 383 engines, and in the spring of 1969 Plymouth installed their monstrous 440ci V8 for the first time in a street-legal 375hp package. The tried-and-true 440 was capable of rocketing the lightweight 'Cuda from zero to sixty in 5.5 seconds and running a 14.10-second quarter mile. Plymouth now had bragging rights to the largest engine in the escalating pony car wars....but with those came headaches.

Plymouth had finally wrangled a power steering unit under the hood for the 383 Barracuda by 1969, but the 440 left on room for power steering or power brakes. With more than half of the 'Cuda's weight now over the front tires, braking and low-speed handling suffered accordingly. Mopar engineers feared a four-speed manual would eventually shred the rear end, so the 440 'Cudas were fitted with a TorqueFlite automatic. The off-the-line performance disappointed many enthusiasts as the TorqueFlite couldn't upshift as crisply as a manual, and more than not left the rear tires spinning. But on an open road or straightaway, the 440 'Cuda's power more than enough made up for its poor handling characteristics. While the 1969 'Cuda couldn't be labeled a complete success, Mopar engineers marked the lesson learned, and would put them to use soon enough.

Toy Wonders
